PROJECT WAIVER OF RIGHT AND RELEASE > PAGE 1 OF 2

As a relief organization that completes overseas projects, and given that dangers abound in the world we live in, Hungry For Life (“HFL”) realizes that there are inevitable risks to staff and volunteers. These risks include serious physical injury, disease and even death. Some of our projects are based in countries with political situations that can become unstable or hostile to Westerners or Christians very rapidly, possibly resulting in temporary detention, even when no law has been broken. The potential for injury may be aggravated in some countries by primitive living conditions or health facilities. Moreover, the technology and wealth needed for modern means of transportation and communication may not be available at certain project locations, as most projects are located in developing nations.

HFL prayerfully seeks wisdom and knowledge in providing guidance for volunteers involved in HFL projects. Policies and procedures are specifically planned to reasonably anticipate need for protection of the health and safety of the staff and volunteers participating in projects. The leadership staff associated with each project has been carefully chosen and will exercise the wisdom and knowledge God has given them. Nevertheless, all matters are in the hands of the Lord and HFL cannot anticipate or plan for all risks.
